DEDICATION

The Class of Nineteen Hundred and Sixty-Five proudly dedicates its yearbook to a man of ambition who has excelled as a

Molder of minds,
Leader of youth, and an Inspiration to all.

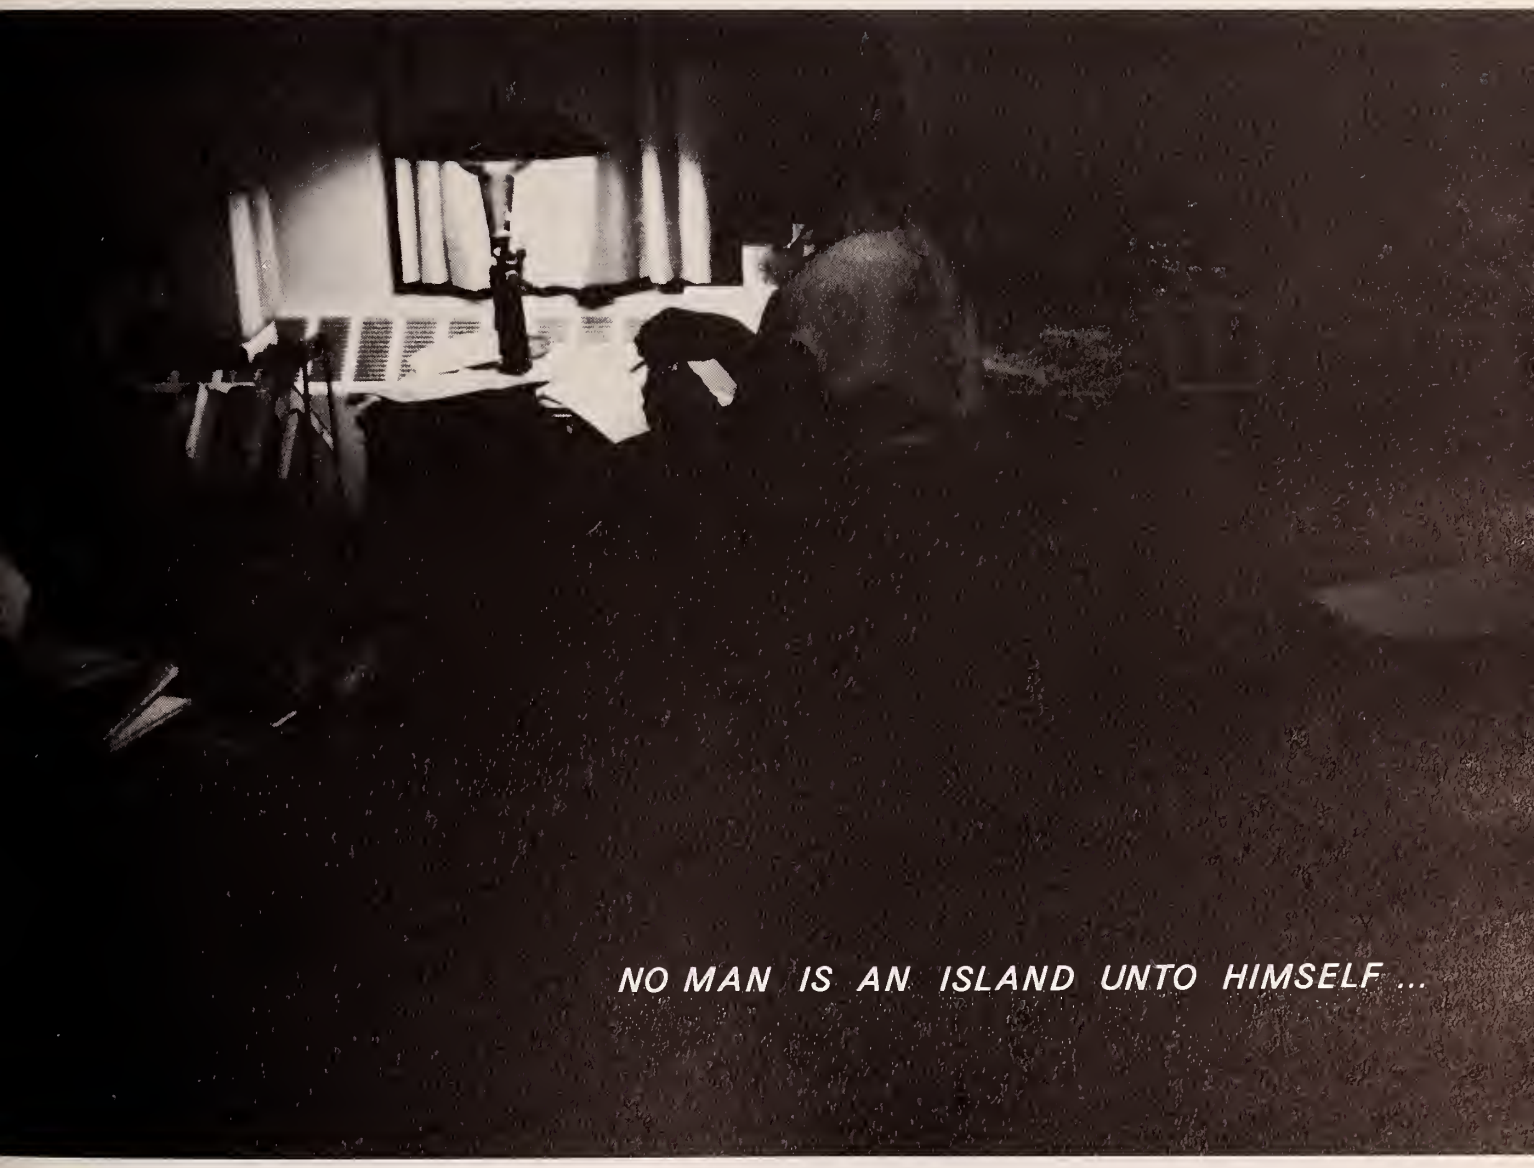
Because he has given himself wholly and without reserve, as both educator and administrator, striving to guide us as future leaders of America, we bestow this honor upon Dr. Vincent J. Mara.



NO MAN IS AN ISLAND UNTO HIMSELF ...

TO THE SENIORS

Because of the inexorable passage of time your four years on the hill will soon come to an end. Graduation will come also, but not just because time has passed.

Rather, this achievement is yours because of the effort and application which you have shown in using your abilities to carve out your college career. I am glad that success has come to you and that the advantages of a Framingham education are yours.

I am glad, too, that you have brought so much to the college since you entered as freshmen. During your student days there has been great change—expansion in the physical plant, broadening of the academic program, increase in enrollment. During this time of rapid change it is good to know that you have done so much to preserve and enrich the time-honored traditions of Framingham while participating enthusiastically in her growth and progress. I offer, then, congratulations for what you have achieved and thanks for what you have brought to the college.

For the future, Mrs. McCarthy and I wish you every happiness, blessing and success. It is our hope that you will return often to the college of which you have become such an integral part.

Dr. D. Justin McCarthy
President

"I hope that four years from now when you look back over . . . the record of your college years you will have reason to be pleased with what you will read—not because there will be no mistakes or because you never made unwise decisions, but because you will be able to read progress, growth, improvement, and a deepening realization of yourself as a person between 1961 and 1965."

This was the message sent to you as Freshmen four years ago. What do you read in your record? Each record shows the growth of one individual. But, your record is continuing in another chapter in which your individuality will be increasingly challenged by continued group interaction.

You may lose your individuality in thoughtless conformity to a group, thereby relieving yourself of the responsibility of making decisions. You can retain a childish individuality which is preoccupied with self. You may develop a mature individuality in which you champion values greater than your own needs; in which individual freedom is not license to disregard human dignity. The development of values by which you live has not been easy in the past four years. It will continue to be hard for values come from a self, not from a situation.

A. Carolla Haglund
Dean of Women

We should never say that learning is not a continuing process and terminates with formal education. We should also realize that teaching is not the act of delivering wisdom to a captive audience of learners, nor should we assume that the mere telling of information fulfills the obligation of teaching. It is now widely recognized that since learning is a complex matter, teaching is even more complicated.

As Framingham graduates you are aware of the heavy demands being made upon the teacher, some of which are a high degree of scholarship; an understanding of the ways in which one learns; familiarity with factors making for efficient learning; and a never-abating or ending zest in the search to make teaching more stimulating and effective.

You are now leaving Framingham after four years of questioning and learning, of searching and discovering. With you go my best wishes for success, health, and happiness. Come back often. You will be welcome.

Dr. Gail Cosgrove
Academic Dean

NEVER FORGET

How fast the years in school have fled;
Four years of life forgotten, dead.
No, not forgotten! Never dead!
They live forever in our hearts instead.

How exciting these years have been
With their many problems and our will to win.
The path was rugged but the goal is near,
And we face the future without doubt or fear.

The encouragement of a teacher, the smile of a friend . . .
They last forever, they never end.
Our memories will linger through many a year;
Through darkness or sunshine, through sorrow or cheer.

How fast the years in school have fled;
Four years of life forgotten, dead.
No, not forgotten! Never dead!
They live forever in our hearts instead.

Class Song

Composed by Kathleen Quilty
Susan Anderson

Countless steps will pass here.
Countless voices sigh;
Still these walls will echo,
Praise to sixty-five.

CHORUS
As the years drift on,
As our memories die;
Onward we will carry,
Fame to sixty-five.

Classmates ever loyal,
Our heads lifted high;
Never to forget her,
Class of sixty-five.

There is half or (more than half)

of everything still to be done

but the time has come . . .

and so we leave.

TO THE SENIORS:

you are on the threshold of a worldly adventure
you have been given the tools to accomplish a task in your hands lies the power to mold the shape of the future—
accept this challenge, be guided by the Spirit of Framingham, be influenced by her history, be inspired by her goals
for the future.

The art of being a non-conformist

or why many perceptive yearbook staffs prefer a very distinguished publishing house

Retaining one's individuality is not easy in these days of mass production and standardization. This is especially true of yearbook publishing, in which mass production methods have the tendency to force one to buy just what the other fellow buys.

Making of soap or soup or salad dressing by mass methods is one thing. But it is quite another to attempt to produce a creative yearbook by trying to squeeze it into some pre-conceived mold. It just can't be done that way.

The Wm. J. Keller firm brings together highly trained craftsmen, the very finest papers and ink of superlative quality. Add to these a unique service plan built around the individual school, and, finally, production by the Velvatone process, which Keller perfected especially for the printing of yearbooks, and you have a truly distinguished performance. And a yearbook with singular character and individuality . . . we call it "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK."

The yearbook you are presently leafing through is the product of the Keller custom program. If you would care to see other examples of "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK" as produced by Wm. J. Keller, get in touch with us now.
